Dedication

Mr. Freymiller

We, the Senior Class, dedicate this annual of 1953 to Mr. Herman Freymiller in appreciation for the many things he has done for us and for the high school.

His guidance during our freshman year was particularly appreciated. Having a great interest in high school people led him into giving his undivided time to coaching basketball and working for a youth center.

Through his teaching we have learned to appreciate and better understand the world of science; through his genuine interest in the difficulties and problems of youth in our particular community, we have sensed that we have found a true friend.

It is with great pleasure that we dedicate this annual to Mr. Freymiller with the sincere hope that he has enjoyed these past four years as much as we have.

Superintendent's Message

John B. Matson

Today, more than ever before, the span of education extends into the international field. A world divided into opposing sections of suspicions and fears turns hopefully to education to bridge the gaps. Education promotes understanding, tolerance and friendship among all nations, racial or religious groups and furthers human activities toward the maintenance of peace. It is the accepted task of our schools to turn this pious aspiration into reality.

Pause a moment to think what our schools have meant to humanity. Recall the long dark centuries when the masses were kept in ignorance---when greed and oppression ruled the world with an iron hand. From the very beginning of man's struggle for knowledge, self-respect, and the recognition of his inalienable rights, the school has been his greatest ally. We refer to the school as "free" and "public" because it belongs to us all; it is ourselves working together in the education of our children. Certainly schools and education are among the greatest of democracy's gifts to civilization.

Principal's Message

EDUCATION HELPS US TO LIVE MORE FULLY

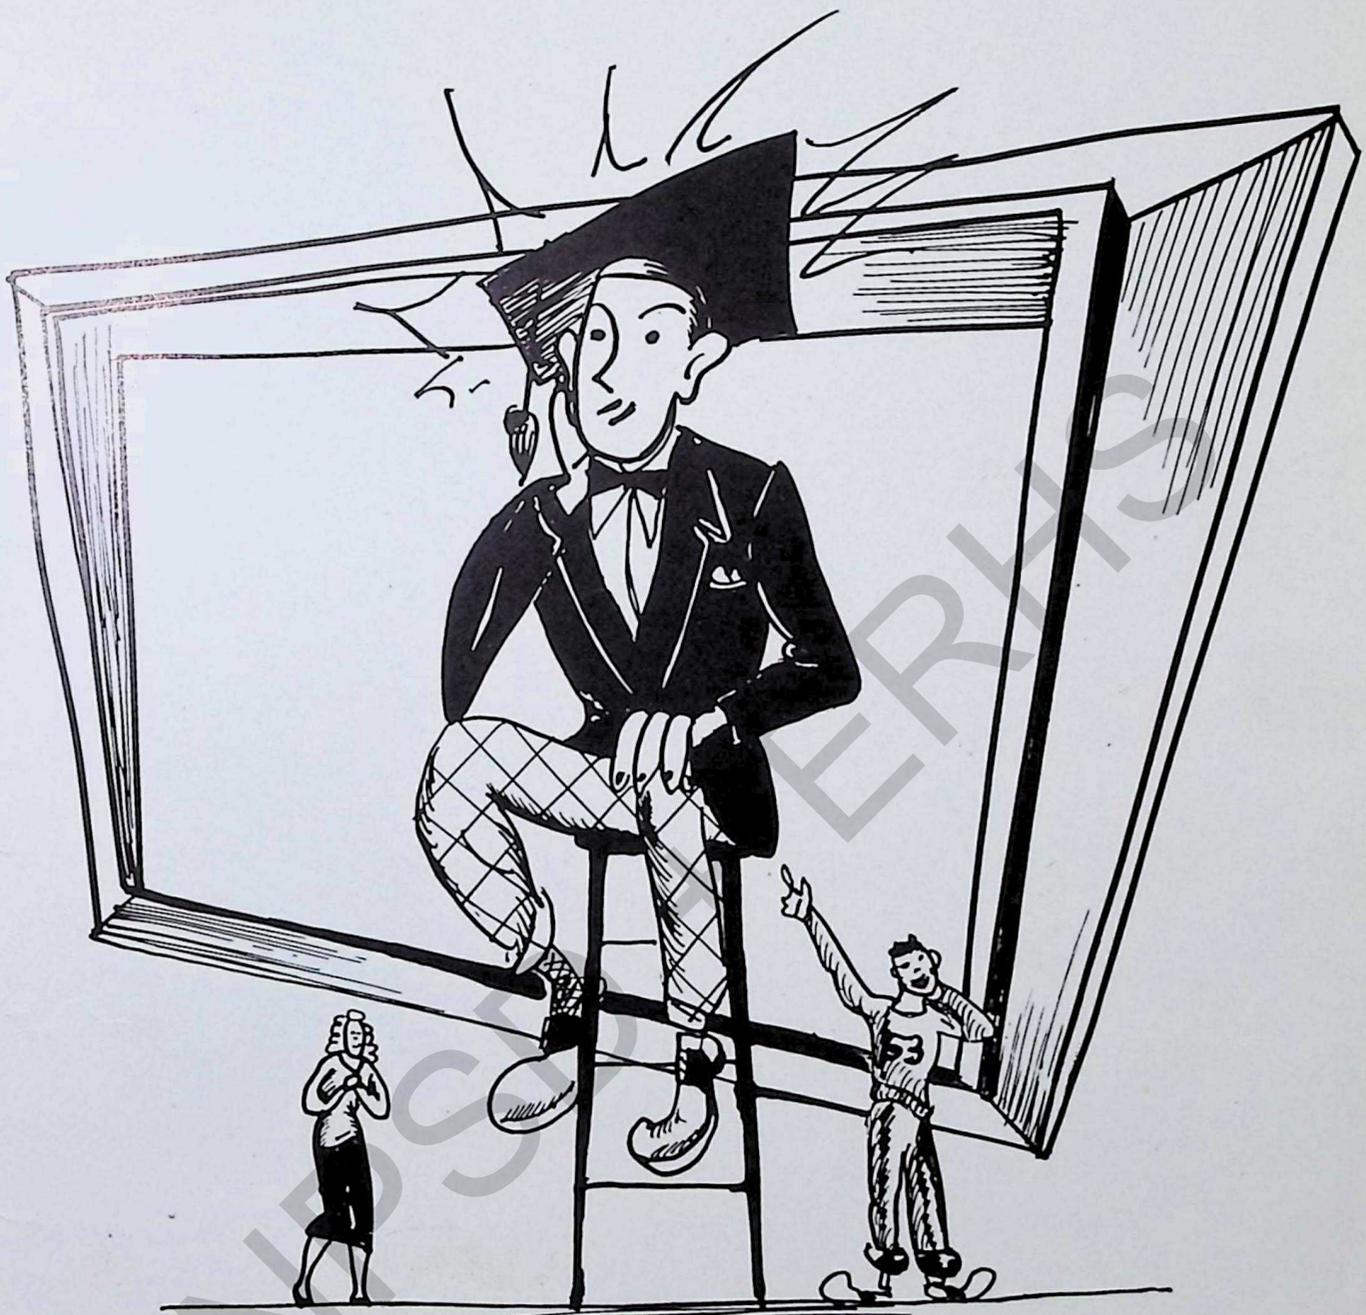

E. W. Kracht

Growth is one of the highest satisfactions that human beings know. Everyone, at least in youth, wants to develop all his capacities for doing, being, and feeling. For this he needs a stimulating environment, one that will awaken and nourish a great number of interests that will lead him to participate in all the best activities of the race. The school is by far the most stimulating environment that the average boy or girl can experience. Any school is likely to provide many opportunities for growth that the child would otherwise not have.

Over the past century, the schools have greatly enriched their offerings. They have added one activity after another likely to help boys and girls to live more fully--singing, art, physical education, handicrafts, instrumental music, shopwork, home economics, nature study, field trips, clubs, dramatics, hobbies, and creative writing. Through these enlarged experiences the individual has a chance to develop his talents, and lead a more satisfying life.

Recently the idea has gained ground that men can improve the institutions that shape their lives. This idea has imposed a new task on the schools--that of helping young people to see how they can build a better society. Teachers were once satisfied to inculcate loyalty to inherited practices and institutions. Now many teachers think that too great a loyalty to tradition is dangerous and believe that one of their first duties is to show people how the institutions that have come down to us from the past, can be altered to serve us better in the present day. These teachers do not avoid controversial issues, nor seek escape from reality by turning away from the world. They try to understand the maladjustments of our society and the methods recommended by experts for dealing with each. As they become scientific in their own social outlook they communicate the same attitude to their students.

Class History

One day in September of 1949, 78 new smiling faces entered E.R.H.S. Class of officers for our first year were Don Schmidt, President; Ladd Tucek, Vice-President; Edith Stein, Secretary-Treasurer. Sally Dussault and Jim Rand were elected to the Student Council. Our Homecoming Queen Candidate was Sally Dussault. Mr. Freymiller was our class advisor.

The second year was begun by 70 veterans and 4 newcomers: Terry Dutcher, Marlene Guth, Wayne Nohelty, and Virginia Rigney. Our President that year was Ladd Tucek; Vice-President, Joe Pekarek; Secretary-Treasurer, Carol Krieck. Our representatives to the Student Council were Bonnie Hall and Neal Larson. That year our candidate, Lolly Schlack, was chosen Homecoming Queen. Mrs. Check was our advisor.

Junior year we marched in 69 strong. Our only, but welcome newcomer was Mary Lou Mallick. Jerome Ludwig was elected President; Jim Thomas, Vice-President; and Gerry Heal, Secretary-Treasurer. Nancy Sparks and Don Schmidt were chosen to represent us on the Student Council. Pat Edmonds, as the Junior Candidate, became Homecoming Queen. Mr. Hunt directed our class play, "Stranger In The Night." Our prom king, Toby Ludwig, chose Bonnie Hall for his queen. Miss Pease was our class advisor.

The last glorious year was begun by 64 battle-scarred veterans of 3 years of hard work. Rosemary Cinko and Lorene Lindberg joined us this year. We elected Richard Hedberg, President; Jim Dean, Vice-President; Nancy Hedberg, Secretary; Pat Edmonds, Treasurer. Lolly Schlack and Bruce McGregor were elected to the Student Council. Once again the Homecoming Queen was chosen from the class of '53---Anita Saltenberger. Our class play, directed by Mr. Hunt and titled "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?" was again a big success. Miss Austin was our class advisor for this last year within the walls of E.R.H.S.

Class Will

We the seniors are now leaving the dear halls of E.R.H.S. In the future we shall look back on our high school days and remember them fondly. In leaving, we the Senior Class of 1953 do hereby bequeath the following to the undergraduates.

Class Prophecy

August of the year 1963 finds THAD CARLSON in the tent of Madam Eagle H-eye, who sees all, hears all and because she graduated from Eagle High, knows all. Madam Eagle H-eye, the former GERRY HEAL, is telling Thad just where all his old school mates are and what they are doing.

Says Madam Eagle H-eye.....

...I see PAT EDMONDS, better known as Hill Arius, now playing her 27th straight week as star of the Broadway stage hit "North Specific." Her manager, at home and a braud is the same one she had while attending E. R. H. S., JIM RAND. Jim is now a very successful Hollywood agent, managing such stars as Marilyn Monroe, Jane Russell, and Martin and Lewis. In another corner of my crystal ball I hear march music and

 RUX, now a professional window washer. Gazing through the window I see DONNA DELICH busy with a new arrival in the emergency ward. Let's take a peek at the chart and find out who he is. It says WAYNE REED, suffering from cuts and bruises resulting from having been thrown by a bull. Well, turnabout's fair play. NANCY RICHMOND is making a fortune in tips while working at the Chez Paree. You'll remember she got her training as a waitress in a local cafe. Currently playing the Chez Paree is that sensational new accordian duo "The Two Sharps", better known to us as PETER LUND and JOE PEKAREK. Peter also does readings for which he is in much demand throughout the country. EDIE STEIN and ELLY CONGLETON are sharing a luxurious apartment in a swank new building called Happy Days Sanatarium. I told them to quit the telephone office before it was too late. Now Elly and Edie are arguing over the Chief Operator's position. JACK STEIN is beginning his fourth year at Vassar, teaching the Commercial course. He teaches Shorthand, typing, booking, and many extracurricular activities.
 SALLY ADAMS owns and operates a famous dancing school for males in Chicago. Her motto is "always put your best foot forward." RICH HEDBERG is teaching a mathematics course at Wisconsin University. He always did have an eye for figures. Pal NEAL LARSON has also turned to the teaching profession. He is now doing research work in Biology trying to find out why the kids nicknamed him "Guts." JEAN CARLSON is a wealthy dealer in fine gems. She learned all the tricks of the trade while working downtown after school. She and Neil Rideout are happily married. LORENE LINDBERG is a famous woman stock car driver. Her childhood ambition is now fulfilled. T. J.
 BUCKTON AND BOBBY CROKER are now two of the states toughest Truant Officers. They bring in an average of ten students a piece per day. They know right where to find

Bruce McGregor has returned to Texas and can be seen any day betwe sunrise and sunset riding the range on his faithful steed, Sparkplug. Adjoining h ranch is that of LIZZY GREEK who is now the wife of a wealthy oil man in Houston America's leading grape wine bears the brand Laddean. Does that sound familiar? I should! The manufacturers ar LADD TUCEK and JIM DEAN. JERRY AYERS also has an inter est in the business. His feet are their most valuable asset, for he pressed th grapes. CAROL HEDBERG has the honor of being Secretary to our first woman President VIRGIE FILLION. President Fillion is now promoting the idea of moving Marquette Uni versity to Eagle River. Recently appointed head of the WAF's is ELIZABETH WEIRICHS better known as "Iron Face" to her recruits. Among her new recruits are LORRAIN MAYO, and ROSEMARY CINKO, who are being put through their basic training by Sgt. SHIF LEY RERUTKO. DON and GARY SCHMIDT have grown long beards and cookie dusters and ar now the new owners of "Schmidt Brothers Cough-drops". LAVONNE BRACKOB, who attende Layton School of Arts in Milwaukee is now a famous artist and was recently honored b being given the privilege of painting the Whitehouse, which has been needing a ne coat of paint for years. Before leaving the Whitehouse, let's drop in the Senat see Senator GALE DUMKE in action. Gale is now promoting a bill to change the lega age of minors from 18 to 16. JOHN FREUDENTHAL, Professor of History at Harvard say that his only wish is that he had known what he knows now back in first hour Histor class. TOBY LUDWIG is now traveling with the Russian Ballet Company as their leadi performer. PAT JOO, now a lady wrestler, babysits or should I say wrestles with th children of the former EDNA GRKOVIC, who is now happily married to Bill Sparks.

And now we leave our class of 1953 to continue their interesting paths of life.

This year marks the twenty-ninth anniversary of Hi-Times, our school paper. Hi-Times is written and edited by students from each class, with the current commercial teacher advising. For the past six years Mr. Check has been our advisor.

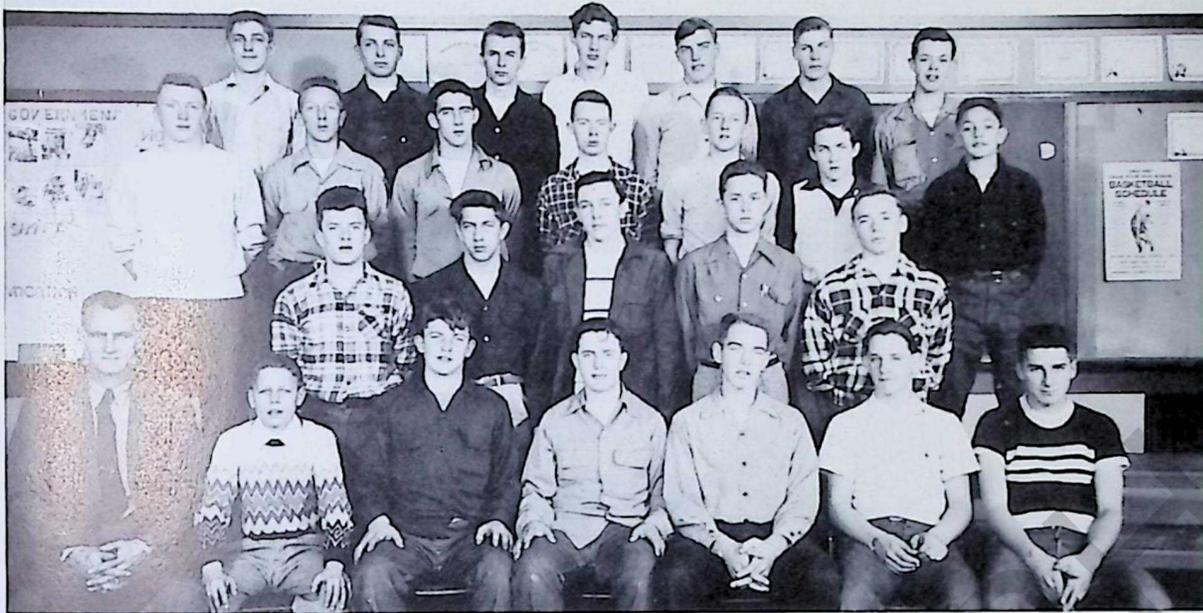

The Hi-Times has several purposes. One of them is to provide parents and outsiders with an idea of what goes on behind our ivy-covered walls. Another is directed at the students; school is much more enjoyable when you can read about the activities, humorous and otherwise, and about yourself in the school paper. Hi-Times has also tried to promote new ideas such as a youth center and good sportsmanship.

Hi-Times has been quite a successful organization for twenty-nine years and will continue to be for many more years.

They say in spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to love. But in June it was more than romance at the Good Samaritan Sanitarium near New York City; there was mystery, humor, and excitement also.

The players did an excellent job in making this delightful comedy truly enjoyable throughout. Credit is also given to Mr. Hunt for his superb directing, and to all others who had a hand in making the play a complete success.

What yo got there?

George---Wayne Reed

This dramatic play was exceptionally grand entertainment. It offered relaxation as well as suspense. The players from the junior and senior classes portrayed each and every part remarkably well. Is it any wonder that our play received first place in the One Act Play contest? Thanks also to Mr. Hunt for aiding in the choice of the play and for his wonderful direction of it.

Junior Class Play

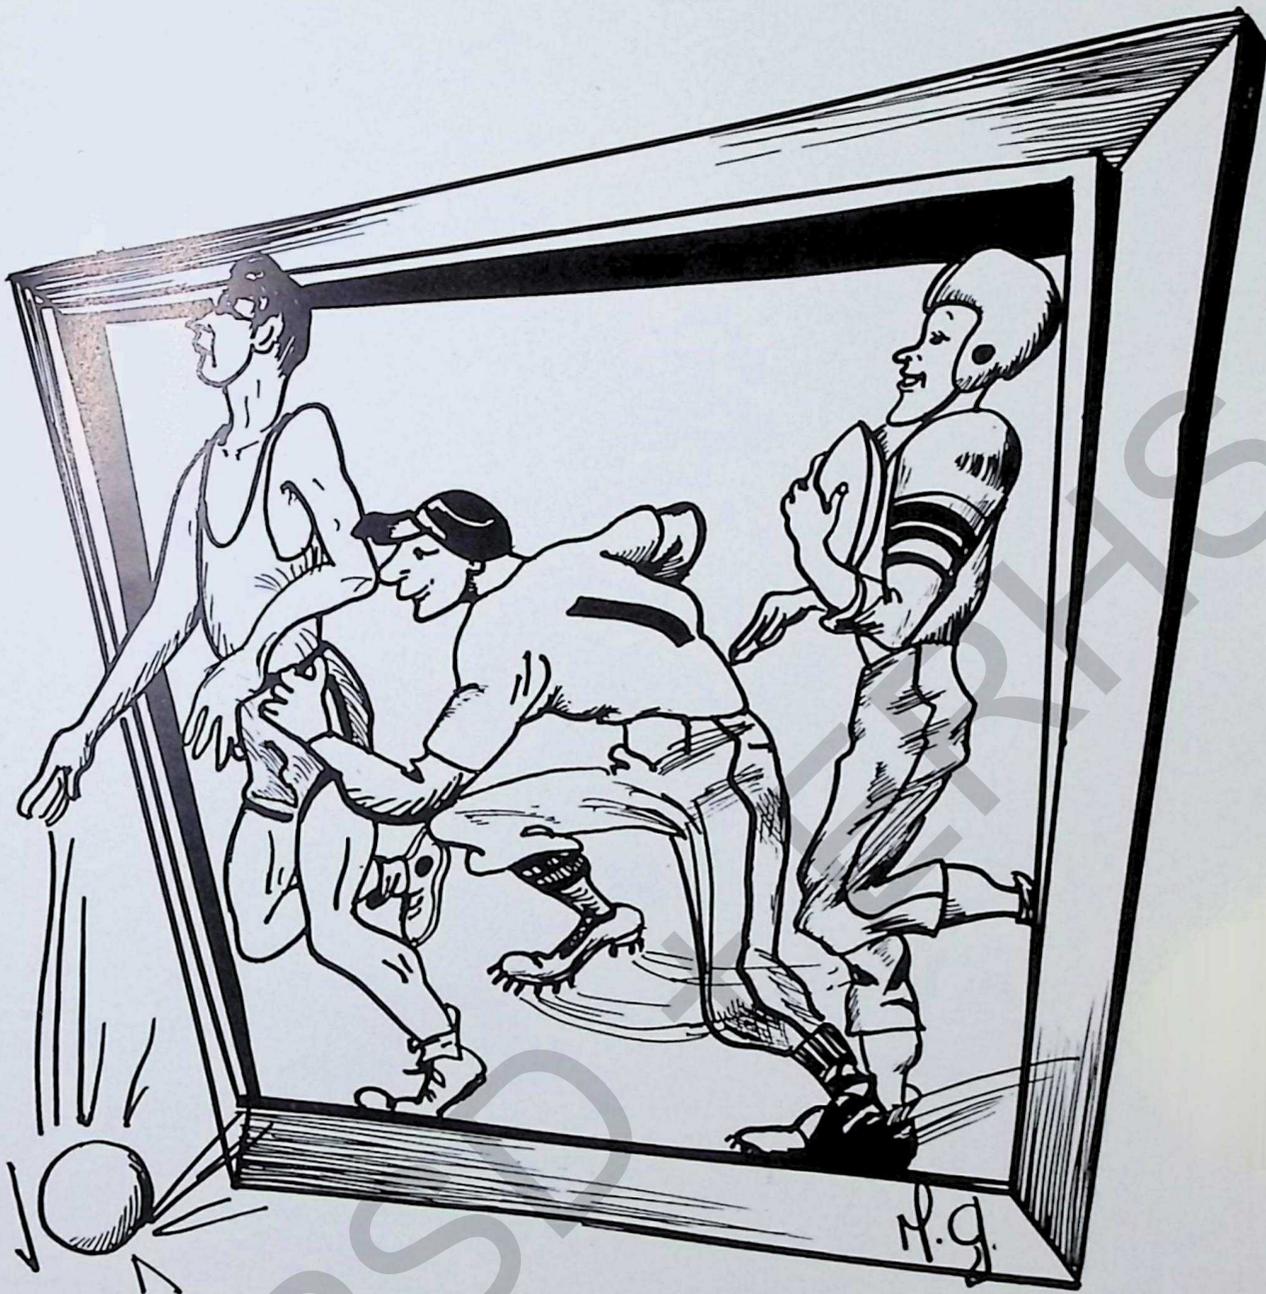

This was no ordinary girl. This was Caroline. During the two weeks she's been at the school she's broken every rule there is. She never comes to The Club for a soda---just goes right home after school. Now take the Football Dance yesterday--did she come all dressed up and play hard-to-get? No sir. She didn't even show up at all! As for her figure, it's as cute as can be, but what does she do with it? She just wears any old thing, and she even looks pretty without lipstick. The boys are all upset. They are pretty big wheels of the school---they've all made the football team. They are the Joes who know. A girl should be glad when they want to take her out. Then inexperienced Willie confesses that he walked Caroline home after school the day before, that's why he was late showing up for the Football Dance. The boys are thunderstruck! What's she like? Willie just says she is different--sort of "woody". Joe is exasperated at Willie's vagueness--"what do you mean 'woody'?" All Willie know was that she liked bird houses. Now what kind of a line do you use with a dame who likes to coop canaries? Then Milt admits that he, too, saw Caroline. He even went over to her house one night, and she thought maybe he'd help her pick the tomatoes! She's a kind of naturalist! That's as far as Milt got. Now the boys are really worried! Caroline's so independent that even the other girls are beginning to imitate her. This could make things rough! Something must be done about it, and soon! Somebody must take Caroline out, kiss her and make her like it! Joe's their man---after all, with his experience she should succumb in a week. For six days Joe meets with no success. Finally, on the seventh, he succeeds in getting a date with Caroline, but he's a bit apprehensive about it. All this naturalist stuff--Caroline just doesn't cook with his kind of gas! They go for a walk in the park. Caroline is enthusiastic about every living thing, while Joe trails behind in happy docility, completely intoxicated by her. The aftermath of Joe's big date with Caroline is an appealing scene in which Joe, more interested in his standing with Caroline than his reputation as a Casanova tells the gang "It's no use fellas--you'd better lay off. You just can't kiss Caroline" even though he doesn't have to admit defeat. Unfortunately, Caroline finds out why Joe asked her out. The happy and appealing solution of these problems made this the sort of play that sent the audience home with a warm glow.

The powerful Eagle River "Eagles" maintained their reputation by turning out a very successful season under the excellent supervision of Coach Johnson and Assistant Coach Salutos. Losing only one conference and two non-conference games, the "Johnsonmen" produced five wins and three losses. After losing their first two games, the newly organized eleven began to "click" and literally rolled over their opponents.

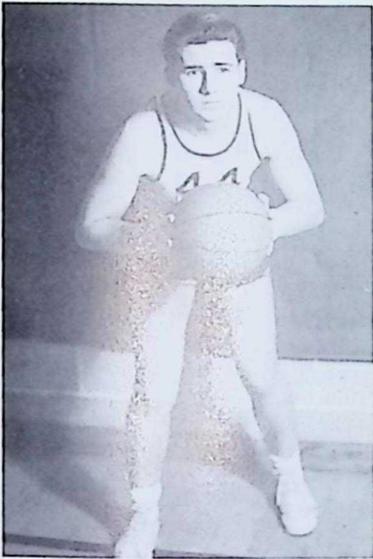

The "Eagles" possessed a good running attack led by Colyn Carter, Ladd Tucek, Jerome Ludwig, Tom Gaffney, and Mike Bradford. Making the necessary blocks in the line were Richard Hedberg, Jim Dean, and Jim Rand at the end positions; Don Plude, Bill Wolter, Neal Larson, and Eric Hedberg alternating at guard positions; Bruce McGregor, Jim Thomas, Dan Croker and Joe Pekarek switching tackle spots; and Jack Thomas and Bob Sparks, offensive and defensive centers.

Colyn Carter, Jerome Ludwig, and Ladd Tucek were high scorers of the team. Tucek was also high scorer in the conference and received honorable state recognition.

Jerome Ludwig was chosen captain of the team and Ladd Tucek was selected as the most valuable player of the year.

The basketball season of 1952-53 consisted of nineteen consecutive games. The "A" squad showed great promise and drive throughout the season but lacked the experience that the other squads in the Conference seemed to possess. Although the Eagles lost eight better than average cagers from the squad last year, the season didn't end entirely unsuccessful. With Eagle routers backing the team throughout the season, the Johnsonmen managed to gain victory in a few encounters. However, the "B" squad had a better season winning more than half their games. They displayed good teamwork and Coach Johnson will be able to rebuild a smart looking team next year.
