DEDICATION

MRS. G. HANKE

Mrs. Hanke has seen many students come and go. She has influenced many. This year marks the end of a long and distinguished career at E.R.H.S. We hope that happiness is her companion during her retirement. Our best wishes go with her always.

MISS E. AUSTIN

Her deeds will always remain with us. Thank you for so many devoted years to E.R.H.S. and its students.

FOREWARD

Yearbooks are designed to record events of a specific school year. That is all that they are required to do. But more importantly perhaps, it will record memories - some good - other not.

We know that many of you will put this down and not bother to pick it up again. But we hope that before you put it down, you will look at it's contents and find something of yourself - something you were a part of.

In many ways the class of '72 was closer than any previous class - and the students in general seemed much closer - a little more personal. As a result, we've tried to record this closeness by a more personal, somewhat less traditional, relationship to you. We hope it comes across.

The ideas themselves aren't so rigid - but then, in many ways, neither were we.

We know you've screamed for more photographed memories -- we've tried to give them to you. Also, we have collected many poems, short essays, etc. - from songs, from the Senior Creative Writing class and from individual writings.

This book was put together only by a few of us - but everyone in the class of '72 gave a little of themselves which makes each yearbook so unique and special.

HONOR SOCIETY

A person
 young and beautiful passed by today
 I smiled
 and he turned to smile back a very warm hello
 It's been a long time since someone really said "Hi"
 to me
 just because I'm a person
 Now I can go on again with my stupid philosophy that life is worth it It's nice to have someone tell you they're happy you exist
 I want to thank him

a time to love, and a time to

CHILDREN

Your children are not your children
 They are the sons and daughters of life
 longing for itself
 You may give them your love but not your thoughts
 You may house their bodies but not their souls

For their souls in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.

Your friend is your needs answered
 for you to come to him with your hunger
 and you seek him for peace

In the days of my youth I saw the buildings
 raised from the ground slaving, chopping, sawing - sweating under the sun
 If only you could see all you've done
 turning people into zombies and robots and worse.
 Is this progress? or are we going in reverse?

Blessed are the peacemakers:
 they shall be called the children of God

. . . all rising to a great place is done by a winding stair

If you smile at me you know I will understand cuz that is something everybody everywhere does in the same language

so many roads to choose we'll start off walking and learn to run

a kiss for luck and we're on our way

only when we pause to wonder do we go beyond the limits of our little lives

I like peace
 It saves flowers
 I like peace it saves children
 The north winds will blow and soon we'll have snow and all your will FREEZE

. . . if you've got somebody - to trust to the very end
 I say if you do
 I want to be like you cuz you sure got a real good friend.

How old will you be in 1984?

You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars
 you have a right to be here

If a man does not keep pace with his champions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away.

French club started off the year with a lot of activities planned. We decided to purchase paints and decorate the city's garbage cans for the sake of ecology. We held a series of bake sales at school to purchase the paints. That project got off to a good start and we plan to finish as soon as the weather turns warm. In the spring we will hold our annual French Banquet at which 1972-1973 officers are elected. Then also, we will have the French Club picnic near the end of the year.

If this, I'm sad

WHY AM I HERE?

If not - why not take from me,
that,
Which could belong to another?
This is my question, and I offer my hat.

Why am I here? Do I have meaning?
Is there a place for my friends
Is there a place for my futile attempts at peace?
If not -- make a place for my worries
And send my to my grave for release.

Why am I here? Is there an answer?
If not - why not help me understand?
Why not give me your best?
Why not send a helping hand?

Why am I here? Do I have a chance?
Is there somewhere a place for my intelligence?
If not - why not make the best of what I have?
Why not give me your answer and lend my a hand?

Why am I here? Is there respect?
If not - hope for peace and help in the future.
Why not give me your hand?
And together, through the wiles,
we'll walk forever.

LIFE

Time is dead
The pearls of life dull
Hope hangs
from a thread
leading to disappointment
a tear falls
only to be consumed in the quicksand of apathy
A sob, from the heart, shakes unheard
through the gray existence of
LIFE

Where lies the Love
In this world of war
And hate and sin,
Where lies the Love
Once held within?

Where lies the hope
I used to hold?
Where lies my courage
To keep me bold?

Where lies my faith
In God above?
Where lies the peace
I'll always love?

It seems that all
The people cry
Because all love
Has passed them by.

But can't they see
There's love to share?
If only their hearts Weren't afraid to care.

Keep America Green! This is the slogan given us by most upperclassmen. Green is not necessarily our favorite color.

We are very lucky this year that the halls are patrolled by the teachers. It has prevented a lot of ruckus that would normally have gone on, such as the freshman being pushed down the hall by kids who line the halls on both sides.

I suppose this has been a good year for the freshman as they usually go, because the graduating year of 1975 has had the common sense and intelligence to avoid a lot of bad situations.

This probably sounds like it was written by a typical freshman, but after all, isn't that the way you've categorized us.

How Shall I Die?
 Shall I be slaughtered at cannon's mouth?
 Counted millions have done so before me.
 To what avail and to whose fame's growth.
 May not my lifes end the cannon
 be.
 Black ribbons twist and corner
 too steep.
 Over walls and cliffs to sea I creep.
 In autos the worlds not rightly left.
 Be man of old or yet unborn
 Obituaries proclaim their fall.
 Their deaths are quiet; we blow
 no horn
 Peaceful death's no way to die at all.
 Which way to die I may debate,
 But death itself I always Hate.

Yesterdays
 memories like left over pie, even warmed
 it lays upon the tongue
 with the little left flavor gushing out in a sweet trickle

there's a feeling I get when I look to the west and my spirit is crying
 for leaving.
 and the day will dawn
 for those who stand long and the forest will echo with laughter.

Old friends stop and look at me,
 they shake their heads they say I've changed, but nothings changed or nothings gained in living every day.

I've been going a long time now along the way I've learned some things.

You have to make the good times yourself
 take the little times and make them into big times
 and save the times that are all right for the ones that aren't so good.

i look around at all that is as well as what it might be i am pleased, but yet will there be a time for me?

And there we were all in place,
 a generation lost space

Not every cloud has a silver lining
 Sometimes just more cloud.

CLASS HISTORY

Our class entered the sacred portals of ERHS in the fall of 1969. Now as we leave we wish to record our history for posterity. We have left our footprints on the sands of time in this monument of learning; some wish they would be washed away by the following waves of the classes to come; some want to go on and never look back; but for those who wish to remember I offer this epistle of the good and not so good.

Our years started out different from the usual and continued on that way. We are the last class to pass on from these portals to remember the scandal of Joe French. Many recall Joe French being called repeatedly before the personage of Mr. Mehr. Some recall the search through the hallways for this lost boy who never showed up for the classes he was registered for. Why didn't this boy show up for classes? The answer was simple. Joe French wasn't. He was only a name registered for classes--a figment of some lonely senior's imagination.

It was under this cloud that our class began the long trek onwards and upwards through four years of toil and riot strongly interwoven.

We selected Neil A. Neilson as our leader and example to guide us through that first tedious year. Although Neil did not remain here, it was he who put us on the course plotted out for us. We sailed through initiation with ease that belied our nervousness.

We even made a valiant effort at a homecoming float. It received fourth place. It deserved to. The mass of wood, wire and napkins was not able to stand up under the pressure of the bold autumn breeze and gave way to the urgings of the wind. Even our strong class spirit could not save the vestige of our vanishing float.

As sophomores, the torch of leadership was passed on from Neil to David Holperin.

After the foundations had been laid in the Frosh year, the class began their slow climb. We got all of third place on the homecoming float. But even if the class did nothing phenomenal this year, it was a good year for sports. The year started off with our football team making conference champs. This year also saw the conception of hockey as a high school sport. This sport has always drawn a large following from our class though whether it was the excitement of the games or the long bus rides that did it will never be known. The exceptional basketball team has not since been matched. They had the outstanding record of 14-2. The two losses were to Crandon which has since been a thorn in our side.

And to give our first half of our secondary education a good rounding off, it was during this year that ERHS received its first bomb scare. Some students thought it odd for the school to suddenly get an afternoon off, but the classes willingly abandoned the building. The building was thoroughly searched, but nothing was discovered. When a second scare came some months later, the administration was not so willing to let us go. They merely checked the gym over to make sure no bomb was present and packed the students in for a set of educational films while the rest of the building was searched.

As mighty Juniors, our beacon in the gathering storm was Don Eickhoff. This year heralded some great firsts. It was a first year for girls' sports--volleyball, basketball and track. Although this may be a great step forward for Women's Lib., the girls did not evade P.E. as the boys do. It was also the year of the great room number change. Just think! After two years of being called to room No. 4 for attendance checks, we were now being called to room 301. Some found the change traumatic, but most lived through it, and do not now remember the change.

The class even came in first with their homecoming float. That's right! After two years of being on the lower end, we got up enough gumption to be first. Our float depicted the Mighty Eagle giving the Florence Bobcat a kick into the trash can. Our theme, "Keep America Beautiful." That night we dumped the Bobcats with a score of 40-6.

Since this was the year the 18-year-olds got the vote, we decided to speak up as future voters in the Garbage Gazette. This paper made no claims to great fame or great knowledge of publishing a newspaper. It was just a means of letting the student views be known with no undue pussyfooting. Although the paper was said to be underground, anyone was allowed to buy and read it. For the sincerity and bravery of the editors of this paper I wish to commend you.

The Juniors also carried on the common activities of fun night and Prom. The theme of fun night was cartoon characters and was complete with stockade, jail and marriage and divorce booths. The profits from fun night went toward our Prom. The theme of which was "Camelot." The court was fully equipped with swords, which were used to salute the King Don Eickhoff and Queen Debbie Richards.

The class finished off their four years with a desire for change. And Mike Jophlin was elected to be our band leader, or should that be 'ring leader'. Although impeachment proceedings were begun against Mike when he didn't show up for class meetings, the charges were quickly dropped when he began to show up.

But the class, it seems, was not the only one seeking change now. The concerned citizens of the town had brought up two school bond issues before the voters. The issue was pounded down to a defeat watched by the students with sorrowful eyes.

It was this year that the seniors managed to do something never done by any class before us. We won the Spirit Stick for four years in a row. This red, white and blue wand was introduced to the Pep rallies when we were Freshmen. The magic words was 'rhubarb'. We won this cherished award for more years than any previous class, mainly because it did not exist before. Although a future class may match our record, we know it will never be broken.

The class initiated a move to change the Senior banquet, but seems to so far only moved it from place to place. The banquet is to be payed for by a talent show and our $5 dues. The four years of sweat, toil and fun will end with the usual graduation exercises, but the parties afterwards will be slightly changed from previous years--now the 18-year-olds can drink liquor.

when you're weary, feelin' small when tears are in your eyes
I'll dry them all
I'm on your side when times get rough and friends just be found - like a bridge over troubled waters
I will lay me down . . .

existensionalist vacuum.
boredom.
meaninglessness.
We all know that state
and at times
wish we knew it even better.
But the frustrated state,
where too much comes crashing
around you often brings despair.
where do you turn?
where do you go?

(Untitled)

We went into Asia
To help the Asians grow,
Young men shot to pieces
Cause business is kind of slow.
Next we'll walk on water
Then where the Hell will we go.

ON LIFE

Loneliness crept in slowly at first Inhabiting my entire soul.
My heart was stricken with a thirst
Any my life was far from a whole.
One day the emptiness, replaced
By love, vanished from me, was gone.
The thrill of life through my heart raced
Now taken with a great new song.
But the lov was not returned to me,
Made me bitter and turned away.
Reason too deep for me to see
No longer able to be gay.
Love is the dearest thing I know.
If it's careful, true, pure and slow.

Prelude to Death
The grass grows green;
Oak foliage on the forest floor lie:
The air, fresh and fragrantly
clean;
The spawned salmon upstream die.

Life has come to the new-born fawn,
It has gone from the crippled
who once stood;
Life is twilight and dawn
. . . and bad and good.
